Support for Students with Disabilities

The College and the University work together to offer the maximum possible support to all disabled students. Now that you have received an offer (whether conditional or unconditional), we would like to give you a further opportunity to let us know if you have a disability and if you will require any support or advice when you come up to Cambridge.*

Some prospective students are reluctant to disclose a disability as they fear that it may be viewed negatively. We would like to assure you that the disclosure of a disability will in no way adversely affect your offer (although the offer may, of course, still be subject to other conditions, such as academic achievement).

The earlier that we are aware of any disability, the better we are able to ensure that all the arrangements you require are in place before you start here (eg study skills support, suitable accommodation and exam access arrangements). You may also find that you are eligible for Disabled Students' Allowances (DSAs) or other available funding to support your requirements.

Like all the Colleges at Cambridge, we work in close cooperation with the Disability Resource Centre (DRC). Their dedicated team of experts provide support, advice and guidance for disabled students and students with specific learning difficulties. With your permission, our College staff can liaise with them to create a support plan that meets your requirements. If you would like to discuss any of this further with a member of the DRC Team, then either phone 01223 332301 to speak to one of their Disability Advisers, or email disability@admin.cam.ac.uk.

We strongly recommend that you inform both us and the DRC if you have any disability.* You can disclose your disability and provide additional information on the Student Information Form at: <http://www.disability.admin.cam.ac.uk//student-information-form> or use the enclosed PDF form. If completing the PDF form, please return it to the DRC. Please also tick the consent box to give the DRC permission to send a copy of the form to the College. Upon receipt of this form online, the DRC will send you an email with further important information for disabled students. Information is also available on the DRC website at <http://www.disability.admin.cam.ac.uk>.

*If you have already disclosed your disability as part of your application you do not need to return the enclosed form.
