   • the forthcoming dinners at the Merseyside Maritime Museum in Liverpool in November and at the Titanic, Belfast in March 2020;

   • the forthcoming reception at Lambeth Palace in May 2020;
our gratitude to the staff of the Alumni and Development Office for their tremendous unflagging support, and to the Master and Vice Master for attending our events;

reflection on his time as Secretary, where serving the Association had been a privilege and hugely enjoyable experience.

7. Financial report: The Finance Officer, Roy Warden (1973), referred to the financial statements for 2018-2019:

- The accounts, with restated figures for the year ended 30 June 2018, had been adopted by the Committee at their earlier meeting. He explained why the rate of return distributed out of the capital element of the endowment had been reduced from 3.5% to 3.0% with effect from 1 July 2018.

- The Association nevertheless made a surplus of £5,428 during the year ended 30 June 2019. The provisional value of the capital element of the endowment was just over £800,000 compared to about £250,000 when the endowment was made in 2004.

- The financial position remains strong. In response to a query about surpluses, he said that the Committee plans to break even year by year. It is in consultation with the College regarding, for example, the special needs of students and Trinity Hall Awards.

- He referred to the published Agreement (February 2019) which records the terms on which the College holds funds on behalf of the Association. This simply formalises the practices observed for many years.
